Homeschool Lesson Planning Notebook: A Simple Undated Plan Homeschool Planner For Multiple Kids. A lesson plan breaks down a curriculum for a topic into "pieces" and relates those pieces to a student for a specific period of time. In other words, a lesson plan is a map that shows you how to get to your goal for a student completing a curriculum in the allotted time, such as a school year from where you are at the moment. Lesson planning is how to make sure that you get through all of the material you need to cover with a student within the time you have designated for this purpose. Lesson planning is critical and is one of the most time consuming tasks you will do to both plan for an upcoming school year and conduct your school throughout the year. You use lesson plans to identify when you will be covering each part of a curriculum for each student. As you move through the year, you will use your lesson plans to measure your progress and to make adjustments for the rest of the year should things go not quite as you had planned them. About this Homeschool Lesson Planning Notebook: - Full undated 257 pages - Undated yearling planning, monthly calendars, and weekly lesson plans - At a glance schedule (subjects, focus, homework, notes) - Weekly lesson planner with activities - Printed on high quality solid white paper - Large size 8.5"x 11" - Beautiful design

How to Maintain a Homeschool Curriculum. Once the important decision is made to homeschool your children, it is important to stay on track. One of the best ways to do this by having a homeschool curriculum set into your weekly planner. This will allow you to more easily track where your time is being spent. A set curriculum will allow you and your child to better plan your days. It does not need to be as strict as a normal school day and can be adjusted to different activities that you may have planned. A curriculum will also help you to make sure that you are spending time on all of the different subjects and not focusing too much on one topic.
